The Government of British Columbia released WorkBC: An Action Plan to address Skills Shortages in BC in April, 2007. This action plan outlines 62 steps to ensure BC has the necessary skilled workforce for ongoing economic growth. Many of these steps have been successfully completed or are well underway. As BC moves forward to implement the Labour Market Development Agreement and a new Labour Market Agreement that will lead to an integrated labour market delivery system, BC is interested in building upon WorkBC's progress to determine what further actions are needed.
